Contrary to the rumor current in Vermont that all the Eastern Estate Tea stores were to be closed, the manager of the Barre store, C. H. Blackley, said this morning that the store here in town will continue to run. Some of the stores in the western part of the state are being consolidated, thus starting the rumor.

The Spaulding high school class that graduated in 1918 met last night for a reunion and went to Berlin pond. About 25 were present and the trip was made by auto. After supper the evening was spent boating and in a program at the cottage made up chiefly of solos by Dean Davis and Ego Carusi. The party reached Barre about midnight, having enjoyed a delightful evening.

The annual picnic of Harmon review, No. 1, of the Woman's Benefit Association of the Macabees, was held Thursday at Benjamin Falls, with a large attendance. The games and races were enjoyed by both young and old. Ice cream and peanuts were served to all by the refreshment committee, with Mrs. Jessie Lund acting as chairman and Mrs. Rees and Mrs. Russell. The following ladies were on the entertainment committee: Mrs. Nellie Bianchi, Mrs. Mary Keast, Mrs. Josephine Mortimer. The general committee consisted of Mrs. Sims, Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Holt. All came home feeling they had spent a very enjoyable day and much credit was due the committees for the success of the affair.

Perfect picnic weather this morning promised to bring out one of the largest crowds in recent years at the picnic of Clan Gordon, No. 12, O. S. C., this afternoon, and early in the forenoon people began to make their way toward the favorite picnic grounds at Caledonia park, where a program full of interesting events had been prepared to suit the tastes and desires of all. For 35 years Clan Gordon has been holding these picnics, attracting each year a large number of people from outside the order and from outside the city as well. To-day the program is scheduled to begin at 12:30 o'clock, although it is probable that those who arrive at the park a little after that hour will not be too late for the opening event. From the start of the day's activities there will be "something doing," as usual, in the line of sports, entertainment, amusement and music. The Barre pipe and drum band will be present to stir the enthusiasm of the crowd and an orchestra will furnish music for dancing in the open pavilion. In the neighborhood of $200 will be distributed in prizes before the day comes to a close, and the competitions are expected to be brisk. Special electric cars were provided for transportation both ways.

Vermont seems to have fared as well as any of the New England states in the recent assignment of National Guard organizations, for it obtained three. The report received at the adjutant general's office shows that she received two battalions of infantry and machine gun company while Massachusetts only received a complete regiment of infantry, which is three battalions; Maine had one regiment of infantry, so received no further apportionment; New Hampshire obtained one battalion of infantry and some coast guard; Connecticut, one battalion of infantry and coast guard, while Rhode Island received no infantry organizations. Probably Vermont will get more when there are more funds available from the federal government.
